Since its founding in 1983 by members of the Grateful Dead and friends, the Rex Foundation has granted over $7 million to some 900 programs to support the arts, cultural survival, a sustainable environment, education, economic and social justice.

The foundation seeks to fund grassroots programs that might not otherwise receive mainstream recognition, yet work in bold, innovative and sometimes controversial ways to bring about helpful solutions to local and global challenges.

The Bill Graham Foundation, was formed in November of 1991, following the death of the legendary rock impresario, Bill Graham. A supporting foundation of the Jewish Community Federation, the foundation is a non-endowed public charity that is funded through individual contributions and support from the company Bill created, Bill Graham Presents.

The Foundation is guided by an advisory board consisting of Bill's sons, several former long-time employees of Bill Graham Presents, and a number of current employees and close friends.

The mission of the Bill Graham Foundation is to give grants primarily in the areas of music, the arts and education, while also supporting social work, environmental protection, and spiritual and compassionate projects in our community.
